News

We are so sad to announce that both Mrs Clowes and Mrs Edge, our wonderful TAs in Attenborough Class, are both leaving for pastures new. Mrs Edge is moving to the bright lights of Northampton and Mrs Clowes is leaving to continue her studies in counselling. They have both been such brilliant and supportive assets to the school, have been incredibly hard-working and resilient during this very difficult time and will be sorely missed. We wish them both the very best going forward. We will shortly be advertising for a new TA role so do keep a look out for this if you are interested or know of someone who might be.

Our new EYFS unit is up and running and looks superb! The new pre-school entrance is now via the main gate.

Don't forget Party Day on 1st July! Children will bring their own packed lunch and drink in for the party style lunch. (There will be no hot dinners available that day). Please do send in £1 if you are able to towards a party treat for the children. The bouncy castle will be available to all children who have parental permission to use it so please don't forget to complete the online Google form. If you can't access the form ask in the office for a hard copy.

Mrs Stephens's recommended reads....

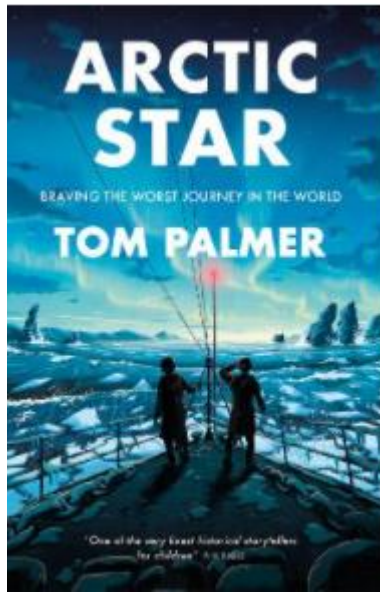

Early years: This book has a positively playful look at self-expression. Fred is the main character, and whilst appearing naked, always has his modesty preserved. Throughout the book he hopes to find an outfit that suits him. By the end mum, dad and dog have joined him to show him how to do it properly. Such a lovely book to show positivity, love, acceptance and support!

Upper Key Stage 2 – This book is the debut from the author, Francesca Gibbons. The main character, Imogen, has a challenging home life and so follows the strange, silver moth – leading her through a door in a tree. See what happens to her and her sister, Marie, in this magical world. Does she get back to her normal life? Who do they meet?

Lower Key Stage 2 – Tom Palmer is one of my favourite authors, tackling stories around world war fiction. This one is based around a naval adventure, where he worked with the Imperial War museum to retell this thrilling story. It has many references to relief events but tailored them to suit this age group.
