More News!

We would like to offer our congratulations to Miss Sibson who is now our leading teacher and part of the Senior Leadership Team.

We would also like to remind any potential applicants for the TA roles and the lunchtime supervisor role that the deadline is the 12th July.

The work on the new playground area will start on 12th July and should last a week. All the old wooden decking will be removed and whatever is under the amphitheater will be dug out. New fencing and equipment will then go in. There will be some disruption but we have made contingency plans. There will be a couple of skips in the playground but these will be safely fenced off, as will the area being cleared by the workmen. Pickup will be from the large playground area during that week. Key stage 1 Maypole on 15th July will be in the garden behind the school house. It's just one week and then it will be amazing!

★ Head Teacher Awards ★

The Head teacher awards this week go Isaac King for outstanding reading. He has read 3 big David Walliams chapter books – well done Isaac!

Mrs Stephens's recommended reads....

Early years: This book has a positively playful look at self-expression. Fred is the main character, and whilst appearing naked, always has his modesty preserved. Throughout the book he hopes to find an outfit that suits him. By the end mum, dad and dog have joined him to show him how to do it properly. Such a lovely book to show positivity, love, acceptance and support!

KS1 – Who hasn't struggled with something new? That's life and learning how to 'let go' and celebrate the freedom and success is what this book is all about. The illustrations are beautiful and help to exemplify the moments of exhilaration

Lower Key Stage 2 – Tom Palmer is one of my favourite authors, tackling stories around world war fiction. This one is based around a naval adventure, where he worked with the Imperial War museum to retell this thrilling story. It has many references to relief events but tailored them to suit this age group.

Upper Key Stage 2 – This book is the debut from the author, Francesca Gibbons. The main character, Imogen, has a challenging home life and so follows the strange, silver moth – leading her through a door in a tree. See what happens to her and her sister, Marie, in this magical world. Does she get back to her normal life? Who do they meet?
