News

Julypole - once again we apologise for cancelling the event but due to circumstances beyond our control we had little choice. We plan to continue with the leavers' service for year 6 parents only and it will be held outside. Isolation rules still continue until 16th August so we will remain in bubbles to limit any possible transmission and to avoid ruining any holiday plans or worse still risking the health of our school community. Meanwhile, we are working hard to make the Julypole event into an I movie for you to watch in the comfort of your own homes, so keep an eye out over the coming days on Facebook. We truly thank you for your understanding.

Head Teacher Awards

The Head teacher awards this week go to Sam E-H for showing tremendous reading stamina and an enjoyment and understanding of different text types and to Nellie for her fantastic efforts and achievements with independent writing.

Playground work starts Monday so there may be some diversions in place so do bear with us, but we envisage it all being relatively straight forward with the only difference is that pick-up is in the larger playground

Please still wear masks and adhere to the one way system. It's nearly the end of term and we hope normality will resume in September.

Sports day reminder - no parents but please send in kit next Tuesday

We would also like to remind any potential applicants for the TA roles and the lunchtime supervisor role that the deadline is noon on the 12th July.

Mrs Stephens's recommended reads...

Early years: This book has a positively playful look at self-expression. Fred is the main character, and whilst appearing naked, always has his modesty preserved. Throughout the book he hopes to find an outfit that suits him. By the end mum, dad and dog have joined him to show him how to do it properly. Such a lovely book to show positivity, love, acceptance and support!

KS1 – Who hasn't struggled with something new? That's life and learning how to 'let go' and celebrate the freedom and success is what this book is all about. The illustrations are beautiful and help to exemplify the moments of exhilaration

Lower Key Stage 2 – Tom Palmer is one of my favourite authors, tackling stories around world war fiction. This one is based around a naval adventure, where he worked with the Imperial War museum to retell this thrilling story. It has many references to relief events but tailored them to suit this age group.

Upper Key Stage 2 – This book is the debut from the author, Francesca Gibbons. The main character, Imogen, has a challenging home life and so follows the strange, silver moth – leading her through a door in a tree. See what happens to her and her sister, Marie, in this magical world. Does she get back to her normal life? Who do they meet?
